For this light red wine cuvée, we bottled Zweigelt from a flush loamy soil at about 320m above sea level with a Blauburger, which is a little higher at about 350m above sea level, on our somewhat rocky Hiesberg. The cool influence of the Waldviertel brings a beautiful fruit into the wine, which makes it a pleasantly drinkable red wine. Due to its uncomplicated nature, it is not only good to drink on its own, but it also goes well with pasta dishes and light cuisine with tomatoes.
