For this light red wine cuvee, we bottled Zweigelt from a flush loam soil at approx. 320m above sea level with a Blauburger, which is a little higher at approx. 350m above sea level, on our somewhat rocky Hiesberg. The cool influence of the forest district brings a nice fruit to the wine, which makes it a pleasantly tasty red wine. Due to its uncomplicated nature, it is not only good to drink on its own, it also goes well with pasta dishes and light cuisine with pizzas.
