For this light red wine cuvee, we bottled Zweigelt from a flush clay soil at around 320m above sea level with a Blauburger, which is a little higher at around 350m above sea level, on our somewhat stony Hiesberg. The cool influence of the Waldviertel brings a beautiful fruit into the wine, which makes it a pleasantly drinkable red wine. Due to its uncomplicated nature, it is not only easy to drink on its own, but also goes perfectly with pasta dishes and light cuisine with tomatoes.
